Re: Stillwater Lakes Civic Association
Stillwater Lakes Citizens
Misappropriation of Corporate Name
Cease and Desist Notice

Ms. Gorka and Mr. Glassic:

Our firm is writing to you today in regard to the above matter on behalf of our client, Stillwater Lakes Civic Association, Inc.

As you may know, the Association created a website in March of this year with the domain name of www.mystillwaterlakes.com. More importantly, it is our understanding that you have created and are operating two separate websites, www.stillwaterlakes.com and www.stillwaterlakes.net under the name "Stillwater Lakes Citizens". These sites were created through GoDaddy.com and you have been operating a log-in forum for several months. We recently reviewed the site and some of the recent postings and are very disturbed by the content of the forum and your lack of oversight over the language used on the postings.

More importantly, we are concerned with: 1) the prominent presence of the Association's official corporate name on the site, and 2) the lack of any formal disclaimer on the site stating that the site is not the official site of Stillwater Lakes Civic Association. As you know, the Association obtained all rights to its corporate name upon the filing of Articles of Incorporation many years ago. Thus, your present use of SLCA's corporate name on your website is confusing users and leading them to an unofficial website. You are misappropriating the Association's corporate name without its authorization, which constitutes unfair competition and common law trademark infringement. Your tortious interference with the Association's trade name is in bad faith, adversely affects the Association's operations, and must cease immediately.

This letter serves as notice that our firm is authorized to file a Complaint and a Motion for Preliminary Injunction against you on November 3 if the following actions are not taken:

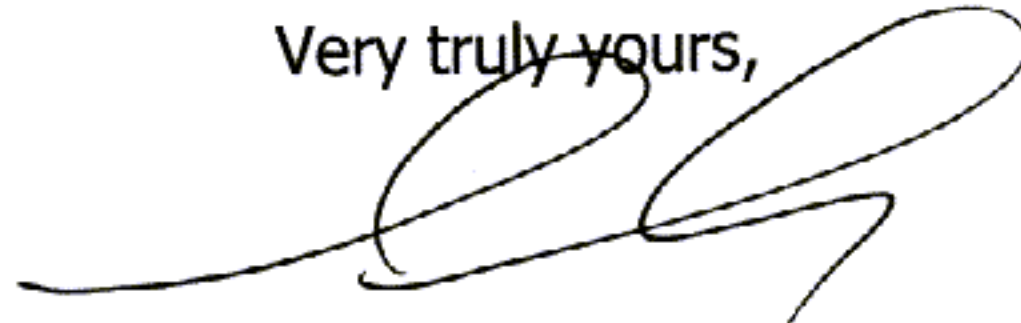

1. You transfer your registration and rights to the domain names www.stillwaterlakes.com and www.stillwaterlakes.net to the Association;

2. You take no steps to register any domain name that is substantially similar to "Stillwater Lakes Civic Association" or any similar derivative name;
3. Any site that you presently or in the future may maintain cannot include any prominent use of the Association's corporate name; and
4. Any site that you presently or in the future may maintain must include a prominent specific disclaimer advising users that the site is not the official site of SLCA.

While the Association cannot impinge upon any unit owner's free speech rights, it can take action to protect against the misappropriation of its valid corporate name. Thus, it is imperative that you take the above steps no later than close of business on Friday, October 31, 2008 to avoid litigation.

This is a very serious matter that deserves your immediate attention and compliance.

Very truly yours,
